SwedCham CEO Luncheons at Mezza9

During the first week of May, SwedCham repeated the COVID format from November and held three fully booked CEO Luncheons for our Main Partner and Partner organisations, this time at Mezza9, Grand Hyatt Hotel. 20 companies were represented over 3 days in groups of 8. Through these bi-annual closed door discussions among CEOs in an informal setting, we hope to establish a platform for our CEOs both to learn from each other cross-industry as well as to share valuable experiences on leading a multinational in SEA.

SwedCham Sustainability 2021

New sustainability initiatives!

SwedCham's sustainability committee is here to support our Members' quest to deliver on the UN SDG Goals by 2030. In 2021, SwedCham is proposing two new initiatives which will run alongside our SESG project, which was launched in November last year. These initiatives are well supported by the feedback we received from our 2020 Member evaluation survey, where 63% of respondents wanted SwedCham to continue with local outreach initiatives focusing on sustainability to support integration and raise the profile of Swedish companies in Singapore.

The new initiatives are:

- The Green Innovation Centre: Together with the South West District CDC and an award-winning garden community in Bukit Batok, we will build an outdoor living room to create a platform to support the implementation of Singapore's Green Plan 2030 on grass root level. This initiative will give participating companies plenty of opportunities to engage with the local community around the topic of sustainability
- Men@Work: An innovative gender balance project with a twist. The fight for gender equity is often driven by women for women. In order to truly transform our societies, this quest needs to include not only women, but to a much larger extent also men. As 2021 is announced as the Year of Celebrating SG Women, SwedCham is joining in by celebrating the pioneering men in the gender equality space. We want to engage with men in Singapore, both local and foreign, who have been champions in driving gender equality in their organisations or at society at large. They will be part of a selected collection of portraits and stories that will make up a one-of-a-kind coffee table book with the message that gender equality not only benefits women it boosts overall economic growth.

Do you want more details? Please do not hesitate to contact SwedCham at info@swedcham.sg so that we can help you explore how our sustainability initiatives can support your ESG strategy in Singapore.

SwedCham's Sustainability Committee: Change in leadership

The Chairman of SwedCham's sustainability committee Mr Magnus Gustavsson from SwedCham Main Partner Nöjdhs Underwater Technologies, who founded the committee in 2017, will now hand over the baton to Ms Carolina Rodriguez, Dilucidar.

Thank you Magnus for your energy and dedication to SwedCham Sustainability over the past five years! Fortunately, Magnus will stay on the committee as leader of our initiative The Green Innovation Centre.

A warm welcome to Carolina! Carolina has worked 20 years designing and developing high-impact advocacy campaigns and innovative communication products focusing on sustainability for international organizations, government institutions and companies. She will bring a wealth of knowledge to the committee on to how to communicate and deliver on UN's SDGs.

Update on SESG - SwedCham's local outreach initiative

As our advertising campaign The Advocate, where 12 Swedish MNCs put the spotlight on 12 local SMEs, has come to an end, the SESG initiative will continue to develop through the two projects Fika4Good and The Swedish Gig. Through our cooperation with Enterprise Singapore, we are currently in the process of connecting more local SMEs with SwedCham MNCs. If your company would like to be part of this, please reach out to SwedCham at info@swedcham.sg.

In our newsletters, SwedCham will put the spotlight on the great outcome we continue to see from the SESG initiative. This month, we zoom in on Saab and their Swedish Gig apprentice (see below). With The Swedish Gig, SwedCham Members have this far created 43 apprenticeship positions for SG United's Mid-Career Pathways Programme.

Making a mid-career 'switch' with Saab Singapore

Saab is of course part of the Swedish Gig initiative that supports SG United's Mid-Career Pathways Programme. This project supports experienced individuals who want to learn new skills in a different work environment. From its Asia headquarters in Singapore Saab can provide some unique insights into how a global, high-tech company operates. Our new associate under this programme, Rongita Bhattacharyya, talks about her experience so far.

"Hello, I'm Rongita and I have been working as a business support trainee with Saab for about two months. My background is in education with a postgraduate degree in mathematics.

I've been looking at a career switch for some time and I recently completed an executive course in Digital Health Safety and Environment. Then I saw this opportunity to join the 'upskill' programme and in just 15 days I had applied, been interviewed and been accepted."

Rongita is already involved in projects that are important not just for Saab in Singapore but across all our other offices in the region. This includes designing and implementing updated regulatory and compliance procedures in areas like data protection, enterprise risk management and work health and safety. Rongita has been studying best-practise in several key corporate areas including sales and marketing. She has also taken on a number of new communications projects to support Saab's business around the region.

"I like Saab's open culture, the diversity of people and the diversity of thought. Every day I'm learning something new from my wonderful colleagues. It is particularly good to be working on projects that stretch beyond Singapore. Saab is one of the real leaders in their field, with such a wide range of products and activities. I already had an interest in defence and security matters but my knowledge and understanding is developing rapidly here. We have done a lot in the last two months and I'm really grateful to have this opportunity."

Would you like your company to join The Swedish Gig? Contact SwedCham at info@swedcham.sg and we will help you get the ball rolling.
